INTRODUCTION.

IN 1854 was printed, for Gen. William H. Sumner of Roxbury, a "Memoir of Increase Sumner, Governor of Massachusetts," to which was added a "Genealogy of the Sumner Family, by William B. Trask." Some additions were printed in the N. E. Historical and Genealogical Register, for October, 1855. Mr. Trask was entirely competent to have prepared a genealogy, which would have made this present volume unnecessary; but Gen. Sumner was willing only to have very limited researches made, concerning principally the branches most nearly related to his own. The "Genealogy" therefore is exceedingly imperfect, and so misleading as to cause one to suppose the family a very small one; and it was in consequence of this mistake that the present writer undertook the work, which has grown in progress to an extent never dreamt of, or it would probably not have been begun. Once under way, however, interest has kept pace with material, and I feel no regret for the time given to the work, or the trouble which has of necessity accompanied it.

The family has been a fairly prominent one, though few of its members have gained any special fame. One can however be justly proud of Gov. Increase Sumner and of Gen. Edwin V. Sumner, to say nothing of Senator Charles Sumner, whose connection with the family unfortunately was somewhat irregular. Perhaps the most remarkable fact in the family record is the number of Deacons and of Soldiers. Several took part in the disastrous expedition to Canada in 1690, and there is a long roll of Revolutionary heroes. Of those who fought for the Union 1861-65, I have only noticed the dead and those living who held commissions, but there were many others.

I began long ago to keep all items relating to the family, old and new, and in 1875 took up in earnest the work of perfecting the Genealogy. I sent circulars to all of the name whose addresses I obtained, and have since then sent many more. I have found the various members of the family generally ready and able to help, but am sorry to say that from some I have in vain sought information. For aid on many points and for facts relating to many branches I am especially indebted to Dr. Charles F. Sumner of Bolton, Conn., and Edward Sumner of Dedham, who have sent me numerous letters during the four years of my labors. Many others have aided me greatly in the record of their own lines, of whom I will only name Rev. John B. Sumner of Binghamton, N. Y., John A. Sumner of Middletown, Conn., Norman Sumner of Atlanta, Ill., Ebenezer Sumner of Upper Jay, N. Y., John Sumner of Newburyport, Alfred H. Sumner of Boston, Miss Harriet H. Sumner of Foxboro', Charles A. Sumner of Burlington, Vt., William P. Sumner of Calumet, Mich., Alonzo H. Sumner of Ilion, N. Y., Andrew J. Sumner of Milford, Earl W. Sumner of Darien, N. Y., Austin Sumner of Boston, and Mansfield Sumner of Middlebury, Ohio. The portrait of Rev. Dr. Joseph Sumner is presented by a descendant, George Sumner of Worcester.

But all the information given by others would not have gone far towards making the genealogy as full as it is (though even now by no means what I would like), without the time and trouble which I have myself given to the work, in travelling about New-England and examining the regular sources of genealogical knowledge, town-records, church-records, probate-records, graveyards, old newspapers, &c. I greatly regret the long chapter of "additions and corrections," but only blame myself in respect of very few as responsible for their not being in the proper places. Most of them appear as they do, because my correspondents only waked up too late to the fact that they really had something to communicate to me, and often it was only on seeing the proof-sheets that a person appreciated that I was in earnest in the work, and had but an imperfect account of his particular branch. In this is found the explanation of differing dates of birth attached to one man, and it may be taken as certain that the second represents later information, and is therefore more likely to be correct.

The plan of the work is so simple as hardly to demand explanation. I have used very few abbreviations,—b., m. and d., for born, married and died, being nearly or quite all. The figures at the right of lines, after names of sons, denote the numbers by which the sons are carried on as heads of families in the next generation. I have no belief that the volume is free from mistakes, but think there is no line of descent to which any doubt can possibly be attached. I have no more additions, except that Edwin V. Sumner, 548, has been appointed and confirmed Major Fifth Cavalry U. S. A., and Samuel S. Sumner, 338. viii., Major Eighth Cavalry U. S. A.

APPENDIX.

CANADA SOLDIERS.

IN the Company of Soldiers under Capt. John Withington in the unfortunate expedition to Canada of 1690, were :

Insine Samuel Sumner,
Sargt. Samuel Sumner,
Ebenezer Sumner, -
William Sumner,
William Sumner,
Jezemiah Sumner.

In 1735 the General Court of Massachusetts granted to the survivors of this company or their heirs a township called at first Dorchester Canada, but incorporated in 1765 by the name of Ashburnham. From a list of the grantees on record in the Archives at the State House, the Sumners are identified as, 3. vii., 4. ii., 4. v., 5. iii., 5. iv., 7. iii.

DORCHESTER, SOUTH CAROLINA.

In 1695 Rev. Joseph Lord led a company of persons from Massachusetts to form a settlement in South Carolina. Samuel and Increase Sumner with their families and their sister Joane Way were among these emigrants, and the formal dismissal of the Sumners "to the Church of Christ near Newington in South Carolina" is found on the records of the Church of Dorchester, Mass., under date of 1 November, 1696. The settlement was called Dorchester, but about 1752 it was abandoned for a new site at Midway in Georgia. The names of Nathaniel Sumner of Dorchester, S. C., 1724, and Edward Sumner of the same place 1749, are both found at the Suffolk Registry of Deeds. Edward Sumner was one of those who moved to Midway in 1753, where Thomas Sumner m. Anna Baker, 19 September, 1782, but left only daughters; he had a brother Edward, who d. at Midway 2 November, 1789, unless this was the father. This branch is not now known to exist in the name of Sumner.

REVOLUTIONARY HEROES.

Several of the family served in the Revolutionary Army. I have positive record of the following :

Lieut. William, 27. vi. or 67.
 Clement, 27. viii. or 68.
 Major Job, 27. ix.
 Rufus, 27. x.
 Eli, 30. ii. or 73.
 Darins, 35. vi. or 84.
 Capt. John, 36. v. or 86.
 Benjamin, 37. vi. or 90.
 George, 40. i. or 95.
 Ebenezer, 40. iv. or 96.
 Lt. Col. John, 46. vi. or 108.
 Ebenezer, 61. ii. or 147.
 William, 62. i. or 149.
 John, 62. iii. or 150.
 Robert, 86. i. or 198.
 William, 107. i. or 246.
 Ebenezer, 109. i. or 248.
 Shubael, 109. ii. or 249.

FAMILY OF "SHERIFF" SUMNER.

Job Sumner (27. ix.) was never married, but had by Esther Holmes a son Job, born at Milton 20 January, 1776, whose name was afterwards changed to Charles Pinckney Sumner. He graduated at Harvard College in 1796, and was for many years a prominent and respected citizen of Boston, being Sheriff of Suffolk County, 1825-39. He married 25 April, 1810, Relief, daughter of David Jacobs of Hanover. He died in Boston 24 April, 1839, and his widow 15 June, 1866. Children, all born at Boston :

- i. { Charles, b. 6 January, 1811 ; H. C. 1830 ; d. in Washington 11 March, 1874.
- ii. { Matilda, b. 6 January, 1811 ; d. 6 March, 1832.
- iii. Albert, b. 31 August, 1812 ; m. 4 September, 1840, Catherine, widow of ——— Barclay ; lost at sea 4 November, 1856.
- iv. Henry, b. 22 November, 1814 ; m. in December, 1847, Cornelia R. Hall ; d. at South Orange, N. J., 5 May, 1852.
- v. George, b. 5 February, 1817 ; d. 6 October, 1863.
- vi. Jane, b. 28 April, 1820 ; d. 7 October, 1837.
- vii. Mary, b. 28 April, 1822 ; d. 11 October, 1844.
- viii. Horace, b. 25 December, 1824 ; drowned on Fire Island 18 July, 1850.
- ix. Julia, b. 5 May, 1827 ; m. 19 July, 1854, John Hastings ; d. in Marion Co., Cal., 29 May, 1876.

Of this family but few lived to fulfill the promise of their early years. George, the fourth son, gained a high reputation as an antiquary, particularly for his researches concerning the Pilgrim Fathers in Holland. The eldest son Charles was during the latter years of his life one of the most promiment men in public life in the United States. Many biographies of him have been published, and I will only here mention that he was a member of the Senate of the United States for Massachusetts from 1851 till his death, which took place just a year before the end of his fourth term in that office.

TRADITIONS.

The Sumner family is not rich in traditionary history. I have heard but few suggestions of a great fortune in England, though there certainly are some reports to that effect. I have, however, received some strange statements as to the founders of the family in this country, and think the following worth printing:—"About the year 1625 a colony arrived from England, and settled in Roxbury. — Sumner was born in Lancaster Co., England. He had five sons; two settled in Charleston, S. C.; one in Salem, and two remained in Roxbury. Edward was born in Roxbury 1636. About the age of 25 he moved to Martha's Vineyard, where he remained twenty-five years, the last fifteen of which he was Chief Justice of the Island. In 1686 he returned to Roxbury, where he remained till his decease in 1732 at the age of 96 years. The circumstances of his death were the following: An aged brother, with whom he had long been at enmity, came from Charleston with the hope of adjusting their difficulties. His hopes were realized. Difficulties were settled, and the old man started on his return, but stopped at the door, and calmly spoke the following words:—"Thanks to God! Our difficulties are settled. I must go; but we part with the joyful hope of meeting again in friendship in a better world." Edward faintly ejaculated Amen! Amen!! Amen!!! Saying this he falls from his chair to the floor. Assistance was immediately called, but in vain. Nature was exhausted, — his spirit had fled, — his body was lifeless."

"Grandfather, Thomas Sumner (49), was from England, and held three commissions under the crown of Great Britain, and was Judge of the King's High Court. Grandmother Sumner's maiden name I never knew, but she was a French lady, and highly educated, also an authoress. Grandfather, Thomas Sumner, had a grant of five hundred acres of land given him, where the city of Rochester now stands, by George III., King of England."

"Wm. B. Sumner was in the East Indian war, along with Lord Clive, and returned and purchased a large estate in Cumberland. The Sumner family originally went from France to England. Two brothers came from England in the first settling of the Colony. Their oldest brother was Sir Charles Sumner."

UNACCOUNTED FOR.

In the early generations the following, of whose death I have no record, are believed to have left no children: — 8. v., 24. i., 24. ii., 26. v., 29. xi., 35. i., 44. iii., 50. vii., 50. x., 80. ii., 90. ii., 102. i.

UNCONNECTED FAMILIES.

There is a distinct family of the name in the Southern States, of which Benjamin Sumner of Goldsboro' or Salisbury, N. C., wrote that it was founded by William Sumner, who came from England about 1690, and settled at Nansemond, Va. He had sons, James, John, Jethro, William and Dempsey, four of whom certainly had children in Virginia and North Carolina. Gen. Jethro Sumner, of the N. C. line in the Revolution, was son of Jethro. Benjamin Sumner, above mentioned, was son of Jethro, son of Dempsey, who settled at Chowan, N. C.; he has several sons, and there are also other representatives of the original founder.

A separate origin may also probably be claimed for Isaac Sumner, who was of Portsmouth, N. H., 1735, and was drowned in 1736, leaving widow Deborah. I presume that Stephen Sumner, who died at Portsmouth in 1794, was a descendant, and perhaps Mehitable, who married Rev. Moses Hale of West Newbury, b. 1715, d. 1779, and also Dorothy Sumner, who died at Newburyport in 1834, aged 68. This last was from Portsmouth, and had a sister Mary, who married ——— Schneider, and secondly Capt. Nathaniel S. Stauwood of Newburyport. Dorothy and Mary may have been sisters of Stephen, above mentioned, and he may have been father of Benjamin who was wounded on the Chesapeake, and of Stephen, of whom I have the following record:—He is supposed to have been born in Newburyport, and certainly had four children, Sarah, Joseph W., Maria and Abigail. The last married ——— Andrews of Eastport, Me., where she lives. Joseph W. married at Eastport, Me., Sarah Ann Harrington, and had three children, Judson M., Gleason, and a daughter, all of whom moved to Taunton, where Judson M., b. at Eastport in 1849, m. 5 May, 1874, Grace E., daughter of James Graham of Boston.

POSSIBLY CONNECTED FAMILIES.

Moses Sumner, b. about 1799, was taken from Boston to Provincetown at the age of two, and given to a man there by the name of David Cook; he died at Provincetown 5 January, 1855, leaving a widow and six children, Enoch N., Josiah T., Joshua, Elizabeth, Mary G., and Huldah C. I can give no guess as to his parentage, and it would seem quite probable that he was an illegitimate child.

Another family, of which I have a fuller record, is descended from a William Sumner, who is said to have come from Boston, and to have had a brother Jonathan. This William m. at Norwich, Vt., 12 June, 1796, Sarah Smith, and is said to have died about 1804. Children:

- i. Hannah, b. at Norwich 4 August, 1797; m. James Parker of Oak Orchard, Orleans Co., N. Y.
- ii. Samuel C., b. at Hanover, N. H., 27 January, 1799.
- iii. William, b. ———; m. at Middlebury, Vt., 13 February, 1823, Amanda Jones of Hubbardton, he being then called of Braintree, Vt.

Samuel C. Sumner, b. at Hanover, N. H., 27 January, 1799; m. at Braintree, Vt., 23 September, 1819, Mary Flint of Braintree; lived at Braintree; d. 23 February, 1873; she lives at Roxbury, Vt. Children:

- i. Samuel Wilson, b. 28 July, 1820.
- ii. Jonathan Flint, b. 5 April, 1822; m. Hannah E. Linfield; lives at Braintree.

- iii. Benjamin L., b. 26 May, 1824; m. Emeline Martin; lives at Braintree.
- iv. William, b. 7 December, 1826.
- v. Godfrey Richardson, b. 16 October, 1828; d. 25 February, 1832.
- vi. Hannah, b. 24 December, 1832; m. 7 December, 1848, John Albin of Randolph; d. 13 December, 1853.
- vii. Godfrey, b. 31 March, 1835; m. Emma Sterling; lives at Warren, Vt.
- viii. H. Jane, b. 17 October, 1837; m. Martin Van Buren Richardson.
- ix. Mary M., b. 17 April, 1839; m. John Albin; d. 6 April, 1858.

Samuel Wilson Sumner, b. at Braintree, Vt., 28 July, 1820; m. Lucy A., daughter of Abel F. Martin; was Sergeant 8th Vt. Vol. Infantry; d. in Hospital at Frederick City, Md., 5 August, 1864; she d. 11 March, 1865; they left several children.

A new and accurate method of finding a ship's position at sea, by projection on Mercator's chart. When the latitude, longitude, and apparent time at the ship are uncertain; one altitude of the sun, with the true Greenwich time, determines, first, the true bearing of the land; secondly, the errors of longitude by chronometer, consequent to any error in the latitude; thirdly, the sun's true azimuth. When two altitudes are observed, and the elapsed time noted, the true latitude is projected; and if the times be noted by chronometer, the true longitude is also projected at the same operation. MAJOR-GENERAL EDWIN V. SUMNER.

FROM "HISTORY OF THE SECOND ARMY CORPS IN THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC," BY BRIG.-GEN. FRANCIS A. WALKER. 1887.

"The commander selected for the Second Corps was Brigadier-General Edwin V. Sumner, a veteran officer of the regular army. A native of Boston, he had entered the army in 1819, as Second Lieutenant in the Second Infantry, and served in the Black Hawk War. Upon the organization of the Second Dragoons, he was commissioned a Captain in that regiment; was promoted Major in 1846, and in 1847 led the famous cavalry charge at Cerro Gordo, where he was wounded and obtained the brevet of Lieutenant-Colonel. At Contreras and Cherubusco he won high honors, and at Molino del Rey commanded Scott's entire cavalry forces against the vast array of Mexican lancers, for which he was brevetted Colonel. In 1848 he became Lieutenant-Colonel of the First Dragoons, and in 1855 Colonel of the First Cavalry. Until the imminence of secession he remained upon the plains, commanding in Kansas during the border troubles, and conducting a successful campaign against the Cheyenne Indians. The distrust entertained by the Administration concerning the probable action of General Albert Sydney Johnston led to his being sent in 1861 to San Francisco to relieve that officer in command on that coast, which General Sumner's unflinching loyalty and courage did much to hold true to the Union cause."

"Of the commander of the new Second Corps, much may be said upon either side of the question whether, with his mental habits and at his advanced age, he should have been designated for the command of twenty thousand new troops in the field, against a resolute and tenacious enemy skilfully and audaciously led; but every voice must award praise, and only praise, to his transcendent soldierly virtues. Jupiter, shining full, clear, and strong in the midnight heavens, might be the disembodied soul of Edwin V. Sumner. In honor, in courage, in disinterestedness, in patriotism, in magnanimity, he shone resplendent. Meanness, falsehood, duplicity were more hateful than death to the simple-hearted soldier who had put himself, sword in hand, at the head of the divisions of Richardson and Sedgwick.

"The history of the Second Corps cannot be written without full and explicit recognition of the influence which its first commander exerted, especially upon the younger officers and soldiers of the corps, in that highly plastic state of mind which belonged to the early months of the war."

"Upon a body of citizen soldiers, in the first flush of martial enthusiasm, a commander so chivalrous in feeling, so heroic in bearing, as Sumner could not fail to produce a profound and lasting impression. Frank Bartlett was a captain at the time of which we are writing; Nelson Miles, only a lieutenant of the line; and from every camp a host of young fellows looked up, in almost child-like readiness to follow, quickness to learn, eagerness to imitate, as their appointed leaders swept by in all the pomp of war. If the Second Corps had a touch above the common; if in the terrible ordeals of flame and death through which, in three years of almost continuous fighting, they were called to pass these two divisions showed a courage and tenacity that made them observed among the bravest; if they learned to drop their thousands upon the field as often as they were summoned to the conflict, but on no account to leave a color in the hands of the enemy, it was very largely through the inspiration derived from the gallant old chieftain who first organized them and led them into battle. It is easy to criticise Sumner's dispositions at Antietam—the dangerous massing of Sedgwick's brigades, the exposure of the flank of the charging column, the failure of the commander to supervise and direct, from some central point, all the operations of the corps; yet no one who saw him there, hat in hand, his white hair streaming in the wind, riding abreast of the field officers of the foremost line, close up against the rocky ledges bursting with the deadly flame of Jackson's volleys, could ever fail thereafter to understand the furious thrust with which a column of the Second Corps always struck the enemy, or the splendid intrepidity with which its brigade and division commanders were wont to ride through the thickest of the fight as calmly as on parade."

"But among the fifty thousand men who held the line from the Swamp to Nelson's Farm at dark on the 30th of June, there was one man who was in no haste to move, probably there was only one. That man was Edwin V. Sumner."

"Early in October (1862) occurred an event of much importance in this history. The gallant old soldier who had organized, and thus far led, the corps, received a leave of absence, and Major-General Darins N. Couch, who had won much distinction on the Peninsula at the head of the First Division of the Fourth Corps, now become the Third Division of the Sixth Corps, was called to the command. Between the two commanders there were marked contrasts at some points, and marked resemblances at others. The oldest corps commander of the army was succeeded by one of the youngest. Sumner was of magnificent presence ; though never arrogant or unkind, the consciousness of high rank showed itself in every lineament and every movement ; though not boastful, he was never backward in self-assertion, whether for himself or his troops. Couch * * * Sumner had a daring, adventurous disposition, which could hardly bear to take account of obstacles ; Couch * * * But when the battle was once joined the two men were as much alike as ever were father and son, in their indomitable courage and impetuous energy."

"But while the new-comer was thus worthy to succeed, the Second Corps could not bid farewell to General Sumner without deep regret. In spite of his increasing infirmities, in spite of the terrible disaster at Antietam, officers and men believed in him and loved to follow him. Just, high-minded, chivalric, of splendid bearing and fiery courage, of high military rank and long and honorable service in previous wars, of great personal kindness of feeling and always accessible to his soldiers, he was in every respect the man to impress profoundly a body of generous volunteers, who only asked to be shown their duty and to be bravely led. The Second Corps could not have become quite all it was under any other chief ; and in relinquishing the command it was impossible that he should wholly take himself away. The best part, the immortal and unfading, the unerring and unmistakable part of Edwin V. Sumner, the honor, truth, courage, and devotion to duty, which informed his whole life and inspired his every act, could not be divorced from the troops he had trained and had led into their first battles. Thousands of the brave men in the ranks, hundreds of young and rising officers, had obtained from him their ideals of soldierly duty ; had followed him in toil and danger ; and when, later in the war, after the body of the brave dragoon had been laid in the dust, one of the old Peninsula regiments was called to leave one-half its numbers, whether in victory or defeat, upon some bloody slope, those who looked on could see, in the quick and dashing advance or in the slow and sullen retreat, something of the spirit of him from whose dying lips fell the boast :

"The Second Corps never lost a color or a gun."

"On the 26th of January, 1863, General Sumner, borne down by increasing infirmities, retired forever from active operations in the field, where he had borne himself with a courage, simplicity, and magnanimity rarely seen in men. No one of his soldiers had ever imagined that the brave old man would die in his bed ; but so it was, and within the brief space of three months, this life of stirring endeavor, of heroic devotion to duty, of daring enterprise and unshrinking exposure to danger, was to end peacefully, at his home in Syracuse, from mere exhaustion of the vital principle. In bidding farewell to the troops he had so long commanded, General Sumner said : 'I have only to recall to you the memory of the past, in which you have fought so many battles, with credit and honor always ; in which you have captured so many colors, without losing a single gun or standard ; and to urge that, keeping this recollection in your hearts, you prove yourselves worthy of it. It is only in so doing that you can retain for yourselves a reputation well won, and which, I feel, will be preserved under the gallant and able commander, Major-General Couch, to whom I confide you.' "

FROM "McCLELLAN'S OWN STORY," BY MAJOR-GENERAL GEORGE B. McCLELLAN. 1887.

"Sumner was in California when I assumed command ; he returned not long before we took the field, and at once received a division. He was an old and tried officer ; perfectly honest ; as brave as a man could be ; conscientious and laborious. In many respects he was a model soldier. He was a man for whom I had a very high regard, and for his memory I have the greatest respect. He was a very valuable man, and his soldierly example was of the highest value in a new army. A nation is fortunate that possesses many such soldiers as was Edwin V. Sumner."

FROM "CAMPAIGNS OF THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC," BY WILLIAM SWINTON. 1866.

"Thus, when all was lost, Sumner's soldierly promptitude saved the day." Fair Oaks, 31 May, 1862. "The brave old Sumner now sleeps in a soldier's grave ; but that one act of heroic duty must embalm his memory in the hearts of his countrymen."

"General Sumner retired from the Army of the Potomac after the change of commander" (Burnside to Hooker). He "was assigned to a command in the West, but died soon afterwards at his home in New York, lamented by the army and the country as the bravest of soldiers and purest of men."
